CHICAGO—August 27, 2007—Fieldglass, Inc., a leading, global provider of contingent workforce management and services procurement software, today announced the addition of a new director of professional services and new director of marketing to the firm.

Tim Volpe, former senior technology program manager for Hewitt Associates, LLC and independent consultant, has joined the company as the director of professional services. Anna Burke, former corporate marketing director for Talisma Corporation, has joined the firm as director of marketing. Both Volpe and Burke bring valuable international project and team management experience to Fieldglass as the firm continues its global expansion plans.

Volpe will lead the initiative to combine the integration and implementation teams at Fieldglass, Inc. By joining the two teams, Fieldglass, Inc. will enhance the cohesiveness and performance of both departments, further improving client service and allowing the company to successfully scale for growth.

Throughout his extensive IT management career, Volpe has delivered IT services to help organizations grow seamlessly while providing uninterrupted client service. This will be one of his greatest assets that he will bring to Fieldglass, Inc.

In her marketing career, Burke has helped numerous companies increase visibility through both traditional and online media, an initiative she will lead at Fieldglass, Inc. Burke will spearhead Fieldglass, Inc.'s strategic messaging and product marketing programs, integrated marketing campaigns, and internal and external communications.

"Fieldglass has experienced continued growth, and we realize we have a responsibility to proactively manage future growth," said Rick Onyshko, executive vice president of professional services, Fieldglass, Inc. "With his blended IT and services experience Volpe will help us operate more effectively and drive technology improvements to enhance customer-facing activities. Leveraging Burke's strong marketing background, we aim to increase our visibility in the contingent workforce management and services procurement market and build more value-oriented relationships with our partners and clients."
